Health and Safety

Supervision

Appropriate adult: pupil ratios will help ensure a safe and enjoyable visit. We recommend a higher ratio of adults to pupils than those proposed in DfE guidelines and we offer free adult places accordingly. One teacher or adult helper is admitted free of charge with every 3 Reception pupils, with every 6 pupils (Years 1, 2 and 3) and with every 10 pupils (Year 4 and above). The Learning Bookings team will have discussed with you your requirements, if any, to bring additional adults above these ratios and the rates applicable. Please ensure all adults are aware of their responsibilities, as detailed in the guidelines on page 8.

Health and Safety Policy

The Royal Household is committed to the principle of ensuring the health, safety and welfare of the general public within the royal residences. Under the guidance of our Fire, Health and Safety Branch, an established policy sets out staff and management responsibilities for all areas of activity and for the conduct of risk assessments.

The following statements summarise the main provisions of this policy.

All areas at The Royal Mews open for visitor admissions have been assessed both for compliance with current Health and Safety requirements and with the provisions of the Equality Act (2010).

Regular inspections by operational, maintenance, and health and safety staff ensure that high levels of safety and visitor service are maintained. Cleaning and maintenance staff are available at all times during public opening hours, together with supervisory staff under the direction of a Duty Manager.

Emergency procedures are published for all public areas, and staff undertake regular fire and evacuation training. All wardens are in radio contact. Trained first aid staff are available, supported by a permanently staffed fire surveillance team who are able to provide strong first aid cover.

Risk Assessments

The Royal Household has undertaken workplace risk assessments to cover all areas of operation, with a particular focus on visitor access and they are reviewed on a regular basis.

In order for you to carry out risk assessments specific to your group and their needs, we offer complimentary tickets for group leaders – please see page 2. Please contact the Learning Bookings Team to organise this.

Can I make changes to the size of my group?

You may confirm the numbers of your group up to noon the day before your visit.

Any additional group members confirmed after this period will be asked to pay the full adult or child rate. Please see full terms and conditions.

How long will we stay?

Your taught session will last around 1 hour 15 minutes to 1 hour 30 minutes, depending upon the session. In addition, you may choose to have lunch at the Royal Mews, before or after your session. After the session, you may stay as long as you like to explore the other areas of the Royal Mews. However, we recommend a maximum of 2 hours for your total visit. Please inform a member of the Learning Team if you wish to stay at the Royal Mews after your session.

Can we bring our own worksheets?

You may bring your own worksheets. Please let us know during booking if you would like to borrow clipboards and pencils.

Where can we eat our lunch?

The Learning Room is available for eating packed lunches. Booking is essential and maximum capacity is 35. As an alternative, during fine weather days, you might like to visit St. James's Park and Green Park (less than 5 minutes' walk from the Royal Mews).

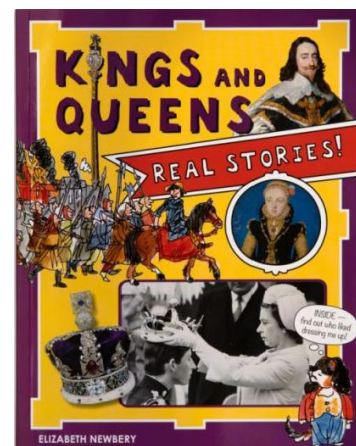

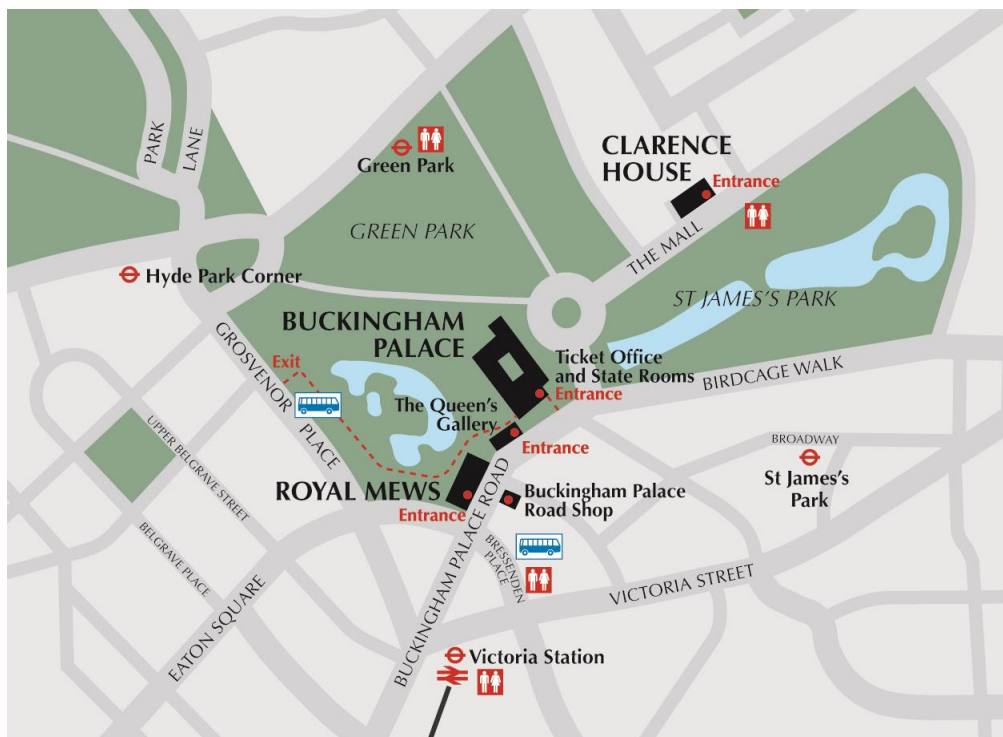

Can we leave our bags and coats somewhere?

Bags and coats can be left in the Learning Room on arrival. Please note, this room is not locked and valuable items should not be left behind when the room is unattended.

Is there a shop?

The shop at The Queen's Gallery offers a range of items suitable for children. If you would like to visit the shop we recommend that you divide your group into smaller groups of 5-6 children, each accompanied by an adult.

Guard Change Travel advice

Please note that on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays (June/July – everyday) the Guard Change ceremony takes place at the Mall facing side of Buckingham Palace. The ceremony begins at 11:00, however large crowds start to gather prior to the start time.

If you are travelling to The Royal Mews, The Queen's Gallery or The State Rooms (September only) for your school visit, RCT recommends:

- Travelling to these locations from the direction of Victoria Station, if using London Underground or other forms of Public Transport. Please avoid exiting and travelling from Green Park if using London Underground.
- Planning your journey in advance if travelling to the area on a privately hired coach/bus. A number of roads around the area are closed prior to the Guard Change ceremony, causing traffic to move slowly and traffic jams to build.

Tickets

Please keep your confirmation letter safe; your letter serves as a ticket for your group.
The group leader must have a copy of the confirmation letter to present on arrival.

Security Measures

The Royal Collection's London sites have airport style security measures at all public entry points which all visitors, including school groups, are required to enter through. All adults and children are asked to:

- Allow any bags to be searched by hand
- Walk through a metal detector arch, one at a time
- Switch off mobile phones

The Royal Collection Learning Section asks that teachers undertake the following guidelines to make entry to Royal Collection sites as smooth and quick as possible:

- Please arrive at the Royal Collection site at least 10 minutes before the scheduled time for the booked workshop.
- Teachers and children should not bring the following: scissors, compasses, metal cutlery, sharp metallic implements.
- Only bring what you need! The Royal Collection Learning Section will provide all necessary equipment such as clipboards, pencils and drawing materials (Groups can bring their own sketchbooks if they prefer to use these).

We may ask you to collect individual lunchboxes into one larger container, to speed your way through Security.

What is the Royal Mews?

The Royal Mews is a working stable and is responsible for travel arrangements by car and carriage for members of the Royal Family.

The Royal Mews is particularly involved in major state occasions such as Coronations, Jubilees, the State Opening of Parliament and State Visits by foreign heads of state.

The Royal Mews is a living community: staff and their families all live on site.

In preparation for an event, horses in the Mews need to be trained and carriages cleaned and restored.

Originally a Mews was a place where falcons were kept. Periodically, falcons were shut away while they shed their feathers. This loss of plumage was known as “mewing”, hence the name Mews.

There are currently over 30 horses working at the Mews. Most of them are not usually on public display except when doing their official duties. There are two different types of horse: the Windsor Greys pull the carriages used by The King and his guests and they're chosen for their height and distinctive light grey colour. The Cleveland Bays are a rich, chocolate brown and they pull all the other carriages.

Some of the famous carriages on display are:

- The Glass Coach
- The diamond Jubilee State Coach (pictured)
- The Irish State Coach
- Queen Alexandra's State Coach
- The Scottish State Coach
- The Gold State Coach

(please note that it is possible some exhibits may be off display for ceremonial or conservation reasons)

What is the Royal Collection?

Britain's Royal Collection contains paintings and drawings by many of the greatest artists of Western Art, including Leonardo da Vinci, Holbein, Rembrandt, Van Dyck and Vermeer, as well as superb examples of works of art from all over the world – furniture, ceramics, silver and gold, sculpture, books and armour. Items from the Royal Collection can be seen at royal residences across Britain and at The Queen's Galleries in London and Edinburgh.
